The Problem

Creators receive the brief. But turning that brief into a strong pitch is another challenge.

target:

For micro & nano creators

They often have:

The audience

The creativity

The ability to create content

But may lack:

A structured pitching process

Experience translating a brief into a concept

A way to visually communicate their idea

Time/resources to create professional pitches

current flow

Current Step	What happens	Issue
1. Receive Brief	Creator receives brand requirements	Brief can be lengthy / unclear
2. Understand	Creator interprets what the brand wants	Easy to miss key requirements
3. Ideate	Creator thinks of a content idea	Difficult to know if idea fits the brief
4. Script	Creator develops the idea into a script	Requires time and creative structuring
5. Visualise	Creator tries to explain how it will look	Hard to communicate visually
6. Pitch	Creator sends idea to brand	Pitch may feel vague / less professional
7. Feedback	Brand responds with changes	Back-and-forth and revisions

The Solution

PitchPal bridges the gap between having an idea and showing the brand what that idea looks like.

The Process

PROBLEM

WHAT WE STARTED WITH

Influencers spend significant time creating personalised pitches, scripts, and campaign concepts for different brands, making the collaboration process repetitive and time-consuming.

Highlight

Use this slide to highlight a single, important thing. To keep it short and sweet, you might link away to relevant doc or file.

Simple list

First thing

Add a quick description of each thing, with enough context to understand what's up.

Second thing

Keep 'em short and sweet, so they're easy to scan and remember.

Third thing

If you've got a bunch, add another row, or use multiple copies of this slide.
